St. James's, January 23.

THE following Address of the Noblemen, Gentlemen, and Freeholders of the County of Aberdeen, having been transmitted to the Earl of Suffolk, One of His Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, has been presented to His Majesty: Which Address His Majesty was pleased to receive very graciously.

Unto the KING's Most Excellent Majesty,

The humble Address of the Noblemen, Gentlemen, and Freeholders of the County of Aberdeen.

Most gracious Sovereign,

WE, the Noblemen, Gentlemen, and Freeholders of the County of Aberdeen, deeply penetrated with a due Sense of the many invaluable Blessings we have uninterruptedly enjoyed under your Majesty's beneficent Reign; of the mild Government it has pleased your Majesty to rule over us with; of the Paternal Affection and watchful Care your Majesty has ever shewn for the Liberties of your Subjects, and the Advantages of your Kingdoms; think it our indispensible Duty to lay at your Majesty's Feet, upon every Occasion, the humblest and strongest Assurances of our loyal Attachment and most respectful Gratitude.

We more particularly think this Duty incumbent upon us, when we see that the factious Principles of some evil-minded and designing Men at Home have at first misled the Opinions of the Inhabitants our Colonies, and at last raised up in America a Spirit of Rebellion, which has forced the Sword of Authority into a Hand that has hitherto constantly covered them with the Shield of Protection.

After bewailing these Circumstances, we do here assert with the warmest Sincerity, that we shall be ever ready, to the utmost Extent of our Power, to act in Defence of your Majesty's Person, in Support of the Dignity of your Crown, and in promoting the wise Regulations of your Majesty's Government.

And we at the same Time pray, that these Blessings, your Majesty has so widely diffused over your Subjects, may constantly attend your Majesty's Royal Person, Family, and Cause.

Signed in Name and by Appointment of the Meeting, at Aberdeen, 10th January, 1776.

Charles Boyd, Præses.

The following is Part of the Character given of this Work by the Authors of The Critical Review:

"If ever ſignal Induſtry and Labour in the Service of the "Public merited Approbation, this Work now before us is "certainly intitled to the moſt favourable Reception. Such an "immenſe Maſs of Materials is collected into theſe Volumes, "that the Title conveys a very inadequate Idea of the Variety "of Subjects they contain: In ſhort, ſeveral Pages would "prove inſufficient to ſhew the Multiplicity of uſeful Articles "comprehended in this Performance, which cannot fail to "gratify the Curioſity of the moſt inquiſitive Reader. Should "the Profit ariſing from this Publication bear a juſt Proportion "to the Pains and Expence with which it muſt have been "executed, we need not heſitate to affirm, that it would prove "one of the moſt lucrative Productions of late Years."
